

A digital art piece featuring a black background with a grid of green binary code (0s and 1s). The word "HACKED" is prominently displayed in the center in a bold, red, pixelated font. The binary code is arranged in a way that creates a sense of depth and movement, with some digits appearing larger and more prominent than others. The overall effect is a high-tech, cybernetic aesthetic.